Facade

Located in Central London, Eaton Place consists of the refurbishment and design of a high-end property. The program includes the selection and proposal of finishes, which would be presented as Marketing material to prospects through 3D visuals and physical material sampleboards, as a possible interior design offer to dress the white box of the interior spaces.

The design intent proposes materials that match the high-end quality of the property, with rich yet sober textures and elegant details such as classical mouldings and wall panelling, though maintaining a modern approach to create a harmonious blend between the old and the new which embodies this building.
